THE GERMAN OFFENSIVE IN THE WEST

LIBERAL POLICY TO TAKE TARIFF OFF IMPLEMENTS

Hon. Joseph Martin Retires From British Politics to Take Up Canadian—Says He is Authorized by Sir Wilfrid Laurier to State That Many Duty Reforms Will Be Platform of Grit Party at Next Election—If Returned to Power British Preference Will Be Increased.

Winipeg, Oct. 1.—Hon. Joseph Martin, M.P. for the constituency of East St. Paul, London, is in the city on his way back to Vancouver from Ottawa. Mr. Martin has retired from British politics although he will retain his seat until the dissolution of the present parliament, and has taken up his residence again in Vancouver, where he has large interests. Mr. Martin also proposes to interest himself anew in Canadian politics.

"I am authorized by Sir Wilfrid Laurier to state that it will be the policy of the Liberal party to take the tariff entirely off agricultural implements of every kind and description, large and small, and this will also apply to mining machinery and sawmill machinery. The Liberal party will also, if returned to power, increase the British preference. The exact increase has not been determined, but if I have my way it will be a very large increase indeed. Of course, the policy of free trade to satisfy the revenue American tariff act, will be granted by the Liberals.

"If I am elected a representative I will be content with nothing less than a tariff which fully recognizes the interests of western farmers, and of all the people in the west who depend upon the farmer.

"Sir Wilfrid has stopped all campaign work during the war, and no for as I am concerned this line of policy will continue."

YET GREATER LAND LIES ALONG PEACE RIVER, SAYS FUGL

"We Are at Doorway of Country Which Will Become Greatest in America."

OPENS EYES OF EDMONTON BUSINESS MEN TO NORTH

Story of Trip Around "Big Circle" One Long Tale of Undeveloped Riches.

Members of the Edmonton Industrial association spent a pleasant hour with A. P. Fugl, district manager of the Hudson's Bay company in the far north country at the noon luncheon on Thursday. Mr. Fugl has spent 24 years of his life in the far reaches of the north and each year covers the entire province on a trip of inspection of the company's posts.

Mr. Fugl's address was of a trip around the "big circle" and of the wonders of the vast country within its territory. The route he took on his recent trip was up the Athabasca river to Lake Athabasca and returning by the Peace river and Lewis and Clark, a distance of 2,500 miles and only 100 of which was made by horse team from Peace River Crossing to Grinnell, a short distance of 250 miles.

At the eastern end of Lake Athabasca there were strong indications that some very large deposits of gold will be made, as this has been proven to be the same vein as had at Colville, Ont., only a few miles away. He believed it would be a cause for an enormous rush in a few years. This portion was, however, useless from an agricultural point of view.

"The fishing in the world was the finest fishing in the world. He himself had caught 15 trout in 20 minutes, and caught as much as 15 pounds. This was in Lake Athabasca, which was from 200 to 250 miles long, and 50 miles wide, and an ideal tourist spot.

There was shooting game. One man had shot 200 waves in one day, and another had shot 100. This was in the winter's supply. He thought that within a year or two Edmonton businessmen would not be that trip in from ten days to three weeks. There were buffalo north of Lake Athabasca by the tens of thousands.

AUSTRIA REPLIES ITALIAN PROTEST: SAYS SHE'S SORRY

Promise to Remove Floating Mines and to Pay Indemnity.

Rome, Oct. 1.—The Austrian government has replied to the Italian protest against the floating mines in the Adriatic. Austria declares the sinking of Italian vessels and promises to take measures to remove the mine to shipping and to fully indemnify the families of the victims. It is reported that Italy demands an indemnity from Austria of 1,000,000.

At Salt river, Mr. Fugl said, one could take a shovel and a sack and dig out the finest quality of salt ready for the market.

ROYAL CANADIAN ENGINEERS AT VALCARTIER MAKE WORLD RECORD IN BRIDGE BUILDING.

The top picture shows the collecting and ashing together of the barrels. Major Lindsay, of Winnipeg, the Jacques Cartier river separates the main camp from the artillery practice grounds at the base of Mounts Elzevir and the Peace river. Across this 200 feet of waterway the Royal Canadian Engineers built, within four hours, a trestle pier position bridge, capable of carrying heavy batteries. The barrels, planks, etc., were freighted on to the ground, with remarkable despatch. The canoe made watertight, the timber was made ready, the 20-foot plank cut down to provide an easy grade for traffic and the actual test was on.

GERMANS RAZE UNFORTIFIED TOWN AFTER VAIN ENDEAVOR DRIVE WEDGE THROUGH LINE

Struggle by Enemy to Prevent Right Being Outflanked Compel Them Continually Push Their Front Further North—Both Sides Bring Up Reinforcements.

London, Oct. 1.—Telegraphing from Paris under date of Wednesday, the correspondent of the Daily Mail describes the complete destruction by the heavy German artillery of the open and unfortified town of Albert, 15 miles from Amiens, which has been the scene during the past few days of a prolonged and terrible murderous artillery battle. He says:

"The struggle on the part of the Germans to prevent their ring being broken by the Allies, and to push their front further north and to the west while the allies continually brought up and massed their artillery and the French infantry suffered considerably. They kept up a fire so rapid in character that at night the whole sky lit up by bursting shells. On Sunday they gained perceptibly and on Monday they still pressed on but by that time the French had brought up reinforcements and their deadly fire checked the German advance."

Yesterday the enemy kept up its efforts gamely but by late afternoon it had clearly failed of its aim. There were French batteries at various points around Albert, but none within a mile of the town. At ten minutes past five German shells from their heavy guns began to fall. Here is an account of the scene from an eye witness who was on a hill overlooking Albert:

"We were warned along the road to be careful and saw a vast column of people coming away from town but the noise was not heard until ten minutes past five, when we heard a deep boom, quite unlike the noise made by an or-

KLUCK'S CLEVER TACTICS FAIL TO BREAK THE LINE

Efforts Have Not Ceased and It Is Thought German General Staff Will Probably Risk Something Elsewhere in Order to Reinforce This Wing—Tentons Almost Break Through Allies' Wing Near Albert But After Two Days Fierce Struggle for Mastery Failed.

London, Oct. 1.—The screen of secrecy erected by the command almost entirely across northern France and behind which military craftsmen for the last three weeks have been fashioning the rough outlines of a new map of the eastern hemisphere stands today unimpaired. It has, however, been pierced here and there with holes which permits some inkling of the events happening on the stage behind it. From what can be deduced from the fragmentary glimpses there would appear to be a break through the line of British observers for the confident, even seemingly inspired opinion on the part of the allies.

All the brilliantly skilful tactics employed by General Von Kluck, the commander of the German right wing, to contain or break through the line of bayonets constantly reaching northward beyond his extreme right have thus far failed. These efforts, however, have by no means ceased, and the German general staff, it is felt in London, probably have something elsewhere in order to reinforce this wing before the end of the chapter is written. Hitherto reinforcements have been met by reinforcements in this critical quarter of the battlefield.

The Germans nearly got through the allied ring near Albert, to the north-east of Amiens, but after two days of fierce struggle for the mastery they failed. These incessant assaults on the part of the Germans have, according to the allied commanders, whose reports are obtained by intercepts from independent sources, cost the assailants such appalling losses in men that the even allowing for reinforcements, their ranks must have been weakened.

The announcement from France of the re-creation of the Marne in the order of the French forces, of the report of General Joffre, commander in chief, of the French forces, of the satisfactory condition along the entire battle line, has been hailed by the allies as peculiarly significant.

In the German field the German navy is showing increased activity on the Baltic coast. It is in readiness to support the German land forces. If they succeed in forcing the passage of the river Niemen. In the meanwhile there has come to London news that within a week a new Russian army of a million strong will join the present armies in Poland and Galicia for "Russia's principal attack on Germany."

SOLDIER COMES FROM THE YUKON

South African Veteran Makes 1600-Mile Trip Mostly Horseback to Enlist.

HURT NEAR FORT GEORGE
Enthusiasm Not Gone and He Prays for Second Contingent.

Even a fractured skull, with which he completed the last half of a 1,600 mile jaunt from the Yukon, mostly on horseback, did not dampen the enthusiasm of Charles Annis for the cause nor lessen his speed in making for Edmonton to enlist for the war.

And in the case of the disappointed man in Canada, if there is no second contingent from Canada, will be Annis, at present in the city of Port George, B.C., while making for the nearest railroad point to bring him to Edmonton to enlist for the war.

His sturdy frame, every ounce of his six feet full of enthusiasm, is being filled out again, and his recovery will not be sufficiently far advanced by the time the second call comes, to enable him to join the medical corps.

Annis fought in South Africa with the first Strathcona Horse, that went from Canada, and when war broke out he was one of the first from the Yukon to jump on his horse and make for his nearest recruiting office. It was a long way off, but he figured that by making across the country to the Grand Trunk Pacific he would be sooner enlisted quickly.

He took the old gold assailed trail from the wilds of the Yukon, through the great undeveloped empire of the north. Everything went well, until he arrived within 10 miles of Port George, the nearest railroad point. Then his horse fell and he was pitched onto his head, and he was so badly hurt that he was barely able to remount.

Human Indians helped him to Port George. From there, little suspecting that his skull was fractured, he came to Edmonton. Violent headaches attacked him periodically, with intermittent spells of dizziness. Advised to consult a doctor he did so today where a diagnosis showed he was suffering from a slight fracture of the skull.

Medical care soon repaired the damage and he is now rapidly pulling himself together at his home of an old friend in the city.

Weakness in frame however, he is just as determined as ever in spirit. "I'm sorry I missed that first contingent," he says, "I'd hate to think I would come to grief without a single chance at the enemy. In 'burying now to get into shape for the second contingent. Do you really think there will be no?"

GERMANS THINKING BELGIAN GUNS ARE QUIETED RUSH FORT

BOMBARDMENT OF CITY CONTINUES ALL NIGHT
Defending Guns Very Effective and Enemy Forced to Change Positions.

London, Oct. 1.—(5.20 p.m.)—A despatch to the Evening News from Antwerp says that the German attack on Antwerp continued throughout last night with little interruption. The Belgian forts replied effectively. It is reported that the Germans in Belgium were compelled to change the position of their batteries.

The correspondent at Antwerp adds:

"The Wave-St. Catherine forts remained silent for some time yesterday, but the Germans seem to believe that their bombardment had silenced them. The Germans then sent a section with heavy guns to attack the position of their batteries."

Following this the Belgians made a sortie and captured several guns.

BRITISH AMBASSADOR SAYS COPPER SEIZURE PERFECTLY LEGITIMATE

Washington, Oct. 1.—The British ambassador, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, conferred with state department officials again today over the seizure of American copper shipments in neutral ships. Ambassador Rice, at London, will confer with Sir Edward Grey, minister for foreign affairs, on the subject tomorrow.

Great Britain has assured the United States it will pay American owners in all instances. Officials are inclined to the view that where such shipments are plainly destined to belligerents, even though shipped through neutral ports, there is no warrant in international law to protest against their seizure. The subject, however, is open.

THREE GENERALS ARE INCLUDED IN GERMAN LIST OF CASUALTIES

Berlin, Oct. 1.—(1.15 p.m.)—The thirty-eight German casualty list made public today contains about 8,000 names. It includes three major generals, one killed and two wounded. Major General Schorringhaus was killed, while Major General Ernst Remmel was slightly injured, and Major General Oscar Reuter dangerously wounded.

SETTLEMENT OUTLOOK IN MEXICO NOW GOOD ACCORDING TO WILSON

Washington, Oct. 1.—President Wilson said today that the outlook for a peaceful settlement in Mexico was very good. The president said Secretary Bryan had taken up appeals for the relief of mine and private in Mexico, but that at present there was little that this government can do.

Yesterday French Advanced in Alsace and Lorraine But Attacks Checked

London, Oct. 1.—An official statement issued from German general headquarters under date of September 30 is given in a despatch to Reuters Telegram company from Berlin via Amsterdam. It says:

"The hostile forces advancing to the north and south of Amiens at town of France 15 miles north east of Amiens have been repulsed. The front battle line is without change."

"In Argonne our attack is proceeding steadily though slowly. At the outer forts on the Meuse the line is without change."

"Yesterday the enemy advanced in Alsace and Lorraine. In the central Vosges. His attacks were energetically repulsed. The eastern theater is without news."

INCORRECT REPORT OF NELSON CASE WEDNESDAY

J. M. Olson, of the realty firm of Olson and Nelson, states that he does not know the Ole Nelson who was sentenced to three months at Fort Saskatchewan in supreme court Wednesday. The Capital, in its report of the case, stated that the Nelson who was depicted was a member of the firm of Olson and Nelson. Such, however, is not the case and the Capital publishes this in justice to Messrs. Olson and Nelson, of the realty firm.

BRITISH PEOPLE OF ALL CLASSES REGARD THIS AS A WAR

Notwithstanding Fact that Physical Standard Has Been Made Harder There is Surprise of Recruits, Whereas in Boer War, When Standard was Lowered, There Were Not Enough—Feature is Calmness of Everybody and Quiet Confidence in Navy—Nothing Approaching Panic Exists, as at Berlin—Supreme Object is to Utterly Crush Militarism so it Will Not Rise Again.

11. H. Hignitham, who was a member of the Capital editorial staff immediately previous to his visit to the old country, sends the following letter to the Capital:

Manchester, England, Sept. 16.—The outstanding feature of the war situation in England is that it appears to me to be the calmness and quiet immovability of confidence of the people in their army and navy. The only real excitement I have seen was on the day I landed at Bristol, and that was caused by the arrival of a trainload of wounded British soldiers back from the front. Elsewhere the people have appeared as they appear in usual times, except, perhaps, that there is not quite the usual bustle of activity in the business centers, on account of the fact that trade in some lines is slower than ordinarily. Men and women go about their business as usual. Their faces are quiet, eager, determined. It would surely be most disconcerting to Knicker Wilhelm II. if he could take a peep at these islands just now and see how very little his war campaign has done, so far, to upset the general mood of life in Britain. He would be surprised to find the streets full of people pursuing their ordinary avocations with a perfect reliance upon the ability of the British navy to keep those shores immune from attack. There is no contrast to Berlin—no panic and no starvation. Not that there is no distress. The war has brought the inevitable burden of suffering and hardship to women and children, but so far no cases of starvation have been reported. Relief funds have met with ready and generous response, and, except for some slowness in getting down to a proper method of distribution at the start, the committees which have the matter in hand are doing their work satisfactorily. In Manchester and Salford some hardship was caused during the first month of relief work, but prompt and necessary criticism on the part of the press quickly brought about a change. At the present time there is no serious ground for complaint.

Wounded Eager to Return
Provision for the care of wounded men is largely in excess of present requirements, and it is now assured that men returned to hospital will receive promptly the best of medical and careful nursing can provide for their speedy recovery. Reports from the hospitals indicate that the great majority of injuries are not slight and some who were injured in the first fighting are ready and eager to return to the firing line. Many schools and public buildings have been taken over by the government and converted into hospitals with all modern equipment. On equipping one Manchester school for hospital purposes no less than $10,000 has been spent. Ten other military hospitals and ten civil hospitals in this city are ready for patients.

Recruiting has proceeded with astonishing rapidity. In fact, the supply of recruits is only being kept up by the capacity of the war office preparations for handling them. So quick was the response to the call for men for the kitchen army that the war office was deluged with recruits, a large number of whom were unable to take care of immediately, and many men had to be sent back home. At first there was some uneasiness as to the unpreparedness of the war office, but the situation has been met by the government paying the men who enlist and is sent back home, the sum of twenty-one shillings per week. This sum is sufficient to meet the needs of any single man, so far as necessities of life are concerned, and leave something over. The men in receipt of this pay are at liberty to return to any work they may have.

Militarism Must Be Broken
Meetings are being held in every city, town and village appealing for further recruits, as the government is leaving no stone unturned in its efforts to ensure that the cause of Germany is militarily well beaten, and so completely crushed that it shall never be able to rise again. This also is the wish and determination of the whole people. They want no peace unless it shall be a true and lasting peace.

All classes of citizens are responding, and those who cannot leave home are concerned, and leave something over. The men in receipt of this pay are at liberty to return to any work they may have.

Manufacturing Fairly Good
In the manufacturing towns of Lancashire employment is fairly good. The principal industries—cotton, iron and coal—are being carried on almost as usual. The cotton mills closed for a few days because of the outbreak of the war, but have reopened and in all cases are working at least half time. The iron and coal industries have been stimulated by the requirements of the navy in coaling warships and rushing to completion new vessels now under construction.

Export trade is quieter, and the shipping houses of London, Manchester, Liverpool and Glasgow are experiencing a lull. Bank takings have also fallen off considerably. There is nothing like financial panic in England, but public uneasiness to handling any currency but gold is taking to the streets. The general feeling is one of readiness and grumbling only a very little.

Everywhere I have been in England and Wales the crops are splendid, and the farmers are taking extra care that nothing like financial panic in England, but public uneasiness to handling any currency but gold is taking to the streets. The general feeling is one of readiness and grumbling only a very little.

Professional Football Continues
One is reminded of Admiral Drake's historic calmness, when informed, at first there was some uneasiness as to the unpreparedness of the war office, but the situation has been met by the government paying the men who enlist and is sent back home, the sum of twenty-one shillings per week. This sum is sufficient to meet the needs of any single man, so far as necessities of life are concerned, and leave something over. The men in receipt of this pay are at liberty to return to any work they may have.

A MOUTHPIECE SUPPRESSED;

A PRINCE SHOT IN THE BACK

Two things have happened within the past few hours which those who know how to read between the lines must interpret as of tremendous significance to Germany. "Vorwarts," the German socialist organ, has been suppressed. The kaiser's second son has died in a Brussels hospital, shot in the back.

That not the least of the reasons for this inhuman war was the German bureaucracy's fear that, failing a triumphant foreign war, its days were numbered in any event is a conclusion which all who have watched the progress of political events in Europe must have long since arrived at. The militarization of the German empire is not a German manifestation; it is Prussian. The perpetuation of the despotism is not German; it is Prussian. The kaiser himself is not German, but Prussian. The elective system which places the agrarian minority in virtual control is not a German, but a Prussian perpetration. The "not" of Von Heydebrand, the "uncrowned king of Prussia" and leader of the reactionary Prussian agrarians, was sufficient to set aside the movement to abolish the three-class voting system by which a handful of arrogant Prussians control the destinies of the empire. From among these came the war party, the militarist cult, insane with self-superiority, actuated with the mad desire for glory through war, obedient to the superstition that six million German automata, manipulated by Prussian hands, constituted a war machine which would roll uninterrupted across the map of the world. These wanted war to preserve their clutch.

Alongside this war spirit fostered by the Prussians there has been growing up another spirit among the Germans, a spirit of the deepest resentment against the brutality, arrogance and blood-lustiness of the war propaganda, and dominated and over-mastered the whole national life of the empire. This resentment, in the hearts of a docile people who were so averse to belligerency that they would not even fight off their self-appointed overlords, found its expression in the astonishing growth of socialism; not so much because they universally embraced socialism as because they recognized in the party the antithesis of the war spirit. With amazing rapidity this anti-war party added to its numbers, until at the last election it showed a voting strength of four million who succeeded in placing 110 members in the German Reichstag. The peace sentiment in Germany was never stronger than at the hour when the bureaucracy against which their movement was aimed plunged the world into war. Half the army was socialist.

But between protesting against war in time of peace and taking up arms against the vested authorities when the nation engages in war there is a very large difference. The millions of anti-war Germans did not want war. But the war became a fact without their consent. They were soldiers by the laws of their country; traitors if they refused to go. There was no revolutionary standard around which they could suddenly cluster. The war spirit was predominant, possessing, over-mastering. The almost universal belief was in quick and easy victory. The kaiser was pictured as the greatest war-lord of all time, his legions invincible, the country invulnerable.

"Vorwarts," as the mouthpiece of the anti-war party, expressed what must have been the prevailing sentiment with millions of Germans when it declared, upon the outbreak of war that though opposed to war, war having been precipitated it became a national affair, and that all must fight. Quite possibly some pressure was exerted; and quite possibly a belief in the invincibility of the war machine was not without influence. However, they went to war; every German possessed with the belief in this invincibility.

Now they have seen the war machine fail. They have been called upon to observe the fact that the mathematical calculations of a war office which omit the human equation cannot be relied upon with the certainty of a planetary rotation. They are about to see the great war machine flung back across their borders, a wrecked and scrapped contraption, slithering with the gore of thousands and hundreds of thousands who marched with automatic stride into the inferno which it had created. And they are about to see—must be commencing to see now—that their kaiser who thought himself divine is really the supreme egotist of the universe, "the world's greatest barnstormer."

That this is the awakening which must contest Germany to the German people is surely clear from this distance. That the bureaucracy senses this awakening and realizes the disaster to their cult which its completion fore-ordains is clear. "Vorwarts" has been suppressed. That this disaster impending is clear. A prince, who might have become an emperor, has been shot in the back.

WITHOUT KNOWLEDGE OR APPRECIATION OF FACTS

Of $2,465,884,149 in exports which United States sent to the markets of the world in 1913, $597,149,059 went to Great Britain and $415,449,457 came to Canada, making Great Britain and Canada first and second best customers and purchasers of almost time United States bought from Britain $295,564,910 and from one-half of all that United States had to sell abroad. At the same Canada $10,257,180. This was of a total importation of $1,811,000,000.

In population there are estimated to be ten million residents of United States who were born in other parts. Of these Germany claims 2,500,000, according to the latest census, Austria 1,175,000, and Hungary 485,000, making 4,070,000 residents of United States whose place of birth is within the countries now at war with Britain. But offsetting this there are 1,350,000 of Irish nativity in United States, 875,000 English, 260,000 Scottish, 82,000 Welsh and no less than one million Canadians, a grand aggregate of 3,567,000 born within the empire and now resident of United States.

These figures, however, are powerless to express the fact that the Canadians, the Irish, English, Scotch and Welsh who have gone to United States have stepped easily and naturally into citizenship. The language of these two nations is the same. Their governmental systems and laws are in all essential respects similar. Their viewpoint upon the broad question of what constitutes national honor and international justice is identical. Their literature is interlarding and interchangeable and—most important of all—their interpretation of history synchronizes to an extent hitherto unapproached by any other two distinct nations. They are just completing a century of peace, amity and good-will toward each other.

Combining intelligence, education, homogeneity and the breadth of view acquired by the experience of the same democratic freedom under two flags, the British born in United States have become probably the most important factor contributing toward the amicable relations which exist between Britain and United States today.

In their influence upon the national sentiment, the Austrians and Huns who have been herded into the iron mines and coal camps of the eastern states are no more comparable with an equal number of British born than would be the same number of negroes when brought in ship-lads from Africa to the southern plantations. The Germans, it is true, have become more quickly Americanized than those from Austria-Hungary, but the overwhelming percentage of Germans in United States are there for the very reason that they sought an escape from the militarism and undemocratic institutions of Germany.

The people who imagine that the ravings of Bernstorff, the flustering of Blücher or the captiousness of pro-German newspapers in United States could move public opinion in that republic to the point where there was any genuine sentiment against Britain are simply arriving at conclusions without knowledge or appreciation of the facts.

HOME DEFENCE

(By an Officer of the 101st)

Have you been a member of the Canadian militia? If you are a British born or naturalized resident of Canada and are between the ages of 18 and 45 and physically fit you have been a member of the militia since you became 18 or came to the country and became a Canadian citizen.

Have you ever done anything to make yourself efficient in the defence of your country? Why not? Does it not matter to you what flag you live under? Is it not a matter of pride to you that you live under a flag which has always stood for freedom and justice to weak and strong, to poor and rich?

The downfall of the great Spanish empire was one word, "manana." It means "tomorrow." If you do not take the steps necessary you may be one of the men responsible for the downfall of the empire you live in today, the British empire.

The steps necessary are two. To make yourself efficient in drill and the use of arms.

The British are at your hands. The dominion government provides a system of mounted and foot regiments for the training of her citizens in home defence. No other forces are necessary or recognized. It is known as the militia and you must become a member.

If you wish to defend your home, join the militia and learn now.

YOUNG BOYS AND OLD MEN NOW FIGHTING IN RANKS FOR GERMANY

Here, Switzerland, Oct. 1.—It is confidently asserted by Germany that a million men have volunteered for service in the army. That some of the men are very old and that some serving in the ranks are almost children was proved by the Berliner Tageblatt of September 25, which proudly noted the presence in the third regiment of footguards of a boy 14½ years.

SEMI-ANTHRACITE OF HUDSON'S HOPE OF IMMENSE VALUE

Examination by Experts of New Transcontinental Determine Route of Road.

LIVELY TIMES ON PEACE PROMISED NEXT YEAR

Argonauts Believe Mining and Farming Will Attract Great Attention Soon.

That there is in the neighborhood of Hudson's Hope, on the Peace river, a greater coal field than any which has yet been tapped in the dominion of Canada, and that the character of its coal is superior to anything which has yet been produced in either Crow's Nest, southern Alberta, the Yellowhead, or the Braxaun, is the broad statement made by Henry Stege, frontiersman explorer and promoter, who is in Edmonton after having spent a summer in the vicinity of the new coal region, and about the upper waters of the Peace beyond the Finlay forks.

For lack of transportation, I have seen hundreds of tons of the finest semi-anthracite in the world thrown over the dump into the Peace river by the development crews working in the new coal seams just above Hudson's Hope," says Mr. Stege, "and that the new transcontinental built through the Peace Canyon, these seams will produce millions of tons of the best coal in Canada."

The coal fields, which have been located for eight years past, are in the hands of a group of Vancouver and Kootenay people, principal among them is George Aylard, owner of the Standard mine in the Skeena country, now paying $50,000 a month in dividends, and Neil Oething and George Henderson, mining men of Vancouver, who have large interests in the upper Peace river country. Altogether they have taken up 71 sections, on which development has been carried on upon a scale consistent with the fact that there is no transportation yet within hundreds of miles, but sufficient to prove the value of the field beyond the shadow of a doubt.

New Road to Use Peace Pass.

During the past summer an expedition of the resources of the new field was made on behalf of the Athabasca and Hudson Bay railway, the new company which proposes to build from Churchill, on Hudson's bay, across the top of the Canadian map to Xmas bay, on the British Columbia coast. As a consequence of this examination Charles F. Law, general manager of the new company, has announced that the road will, without doubt, use the Peace pass through the mountains, quite possibly building right down in the Peace river, a turbulent river, where it pours through the narrowest and lowest defile of the Rockies.

Surveyors for the new road have been working on the reconnaissance all summer, eight parties being in the field between the Pacific coast and the Athabasca river. Already these parties have laid out a line which will be followed, and other parties, making investigations of the resources, have covered an immense area of country as far north as the Great Slave lake, their mission being to gather data with which to justify the investment of the immense capital which will be necessary to complete the road.

Among the resources reported by these parties, besides the coal at Hudson's Hope and the tremendous agricultural possibilities of the Peace and lower Athabasca, are immense areas in the Finlay river country on the British Columbia side of the Peace, promising very lucrative returns for the gold dredger and the hydraulic miner. Samples of oil have been brought in from the valleys on the western slope of the Rockies, leading to the hope that the great oil territory may yet be discovered to the north of Gimicome portage.

New Boat for the River.

Navigation on the Peace river, which has its terminus at Hudson's Hope, received a boost in the new Diamond F. boat, Grenfell, burned at the Cut Bank, on the upper Peace in the beginning of September, but already the company has commenced the construction of another boat at Peace River Crossing, and the Hudson's Hope company has accomplished the "impossible" by taking the steamer "Athabasca" down the rapids from Athabasca Landing to the Vermillion chutes, where it is now lying, awaiting the formation of ice at that point, on which it can be dragged over to the upper waters, navigable for hundreds of miles from the chutes up to Hudson's Hope.

With the completion of the Edmonton, Dunvegan and B. C. to a point within easy distance of Peace River Crossing, as is promised for this autumn, the argonauts of the upper Peace look for some lively developments in that country next year.

Mr. Stege reports that in the country through which he travelled coming to Edmonton he saw everywhere crops which were a corroboration of all that had been claimed for that country by the most optimistic advertisers of the last, best west.

He declares that he believes Hudson's Hope has all the resources to make it another Edmonton in the matter of agriculture, and another Denver in the matter of mining. He expects to see the springing up of a lively town there not later than next year.

The European war atlas, just off the press, which readers of the Edmonton Daily Capital may secure free, is filled from cover to cover with latest detailed maps, pictures and general information of Europe and the war that you never saw published before.

It's up-to-date, too, all of it. For example, the correct boundaries of the Balkan states at the time of the beginning of the present war are given, both in the big, colored, double-page map of Europe and in a similar map of central Europe. Very few atlases or maps give such up-to-date and reliable information.

The Capital carries the best and latest news. Besides war news it will carry full reports of the doings of the Alberta legislature, which meets in a few days; the dominion parliament, which will also meet this fall; the world's championship baseball games, which start October 9; and all the other late sporting and other news, including the famous Mull and Jeff series of comic cartoons.

There is only a limited number of European war atlases. Make sure of your atlas and your Capital today.

COMPANY OFFERS POWER PROPOSAL

Canadian Coal and Coke Has Alternative Power Propositions for Council.

MAY BUILD AT ST. ALBERT
Rates Would Vary From One-half to 1 3-5 Cents Per Kilowatt Hour.

Among the many offers to supply power to the city received by the commission board is one made by a purely Edmonton concern with two collieries, one of which is within four miles of the city limits.

This offer is made by the Canadian Coal and Coke company limited, of which P. O. Dwyer is general manager, and S. T. Mains, treasurer, with head offices in the Agency building.

In the communication to the city, the company states that at the colliery within four miles of the city limits, and within areas tributary to it, they have from 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 tons of recoverable coal, and at the other, which is a transmission distance of 120 miles to the city, there is a tonnage of from 700,000,000 to 7,000,000,000 tons. The company's nearest colliery is near St. Albert.

The schedule of prices offered by the company, per K.W.H., are as follows: 20,000,000 per year consumption—1.5c; 50,000,000 per year consumption—1.3c; 100,000,000 per year consumption—1.1c; 150,000,000 per year consumption—1.0c; 200,000,000 per year consumption—.9c. The company states that the cost of power to the city for the 14 months ending December 31, 1914, before interest charged or overcharged, was 2.20 cents per K.W.H.

The company wants a contract for 25 or 30 years, to erect a plant at the St. Albert colliery if they wish the city's ownership of its utilities to remain undisturbed, the city to maintain in repair, the new plant, and to maintain the city plant as a standby plant, the company furnishing the power at the rates mentioned above, and paying the city in addition, a fee of $100,000 per year for the use of the plant. The cost of the new plant, additions to the main plant, and necessary during the period to be supplied by the company and taken over by the city at the expiration of the contract period at the rate of $100,000 per year, to be fixed by arbitration.

A second offer by the company is to take over the present city plant, on expense, such additional plant as may be found necessary from time to time to meet the persons who are not members and in whose possession are any belongings of the plant, will be readily offered if they justify the commanding officer or return same themselves.

The company states it is prepared to furnish the city with its utility to carry through these proposals and is willing to have inserted in the contract such provisions as may be necessary to safeguard the interests of the city.

CITY REAL ESTATE MAN DIES AFTER AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT NEAR MILLET

Walter Young, of Edmonton, was killed in an automobile accident on Tuesday night a few miles from Millet, dying in the Wetaskwin hospital about 11 o'clock from the internal hemorrhage.

Mr. Young, with A. P. Baker, was driving a car on the way to Wetaskwin on a duck shoot, when he was struck by a car in the road, he turned the car to one side, causing it to overturn.

Although feeling sore from the fall, Mr. Young was able to assist in righting the motor car, but by the time the party reached Wetaskwin he was feeling so weak that he went to the hospital for treatment. His injuries were more serious, however, than at first thought, and in spite of all that could be done for him, a number of hours after entering the hospital, the remains will be brought to Edmonton for interment.

Mr. Young was 35 years of age, was survived by his mother and a brother living in the city. Another brother is residing in Vancouver, B.C., and a sister lives in Vancouver, B.C. He was engaged in business with A. P. Baker, in the Athabasca Land company, and had an office in the Fuller Block.

Entrance may be gained to the parliamentary buildings through the main entrance above the ground floor, as these lower doors have been closed and are closely guarded during war times.
